
A black and white advertisement featuring a checkerboard background. A large, stylized, light-colored shape, resembling a drop or a lens, is centered in the upper half of the image. Inside this shape, the word "EOS" is written in a large, bold, sans-serif font. Below "EOS", the numbers "1 9 5 1" are displayed in a smaller, bold, sans-serif font, with spaces between them. The checkerboard pattern consists of alternating dark and light squares, creating a high-contrast, geometric background.

Foreword

Allen County Public Library
900 Webster Street
PO Box 2270
Fort Wayne, IN 46801-2270

The 1951 Eos was created as a memoir of one year's activity at Adelbert College. Our college days are swept by so quickly that we often have little time to evaluate their true meaning or appreciate their full importance in shaping our future lives and personalities. We have, therefore, attempted to collect and record within the covers of this book those impressions of university life which we believe to be of the most lasting and permanent nature to act as a pleasant reminder of those college days. We sincerely hope that our efforts have not been in vain and that this book in some way captures the essence of "the best years of our lives."

" 'Tis all a Chequer board of Nights and Days
Where Destiny with men for Pieces plays:
Hither and Thither moves, and mates, and slays,
And one by one back in the closet lays."

—Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam

The Jones' boys learn to drive the tractor.

Dr. and Mrs. Jones and Bessy.

A musical evening at home.

Dr. Jones converses with two old friends.

Dr. William Powell Jones, Dean of Adelbert College, has been associated with Western Reserve University for more than two decades, having joined the faculty in 1930 as assistant professor of English.

The Dean's interest in education arose during his undergraduate work at Emory College, in Atlanta, Georgia. After graduating in 1921, he sailed for Japan to accept a teaching assignment in Himeji, which was his headquarters until 1923. While in the Orient, he traveled widely, examining and savoring the high points of that ancient and intriguing civilization.

Returning to the United States, Dean Jones began laying firm foundations for his chosen career in education. In 1925, he took his master's at Harvard, and taught there as an instructor for several years after receiving his Ph.D. in 1927. Harvard sent him to Europe to study and collect material for a book. While abroad he toured the continent, viewing art objects and interesting historic spots.

dedication

Western Reserve accepted Dr. Jones' service as assistant professor in 1930, raised him to associate professor in 1938, and intrusted him with both full professorship and command of the dean's office in 1947, after he had returned from military service.

Dean Jones is a member of Phi Delta Theta, Phi Beta Kappa, and is an active participant in affairs of the Chagrin Valley Hunt Club. He and his family, a wife and four children, live at Gates Mills on a thirty-acre estate, where Dean Jones enjoys growing fruit trees and riding.

In dedicating this yearbook, we salute one who has made Western Reserve his profession, his pleasure, and his life work. To you, Dean Jones, the Eos is respectfully dedicated, hoping that this honor may in some way reward you for being a dynamic and constructive force in the shaping of our destiny.

Reserve's newest and fastest-growing governmental organization, the All-University Senate, assumed a leading role on campus during the 1950-51 school year by conducting a vigorous program of all-University affairs which included: square dances, the Homecoming celebration, Migration Day, and a civilian defense drive. Most successful of the USSR-sponsored affairs was the Homecoming weekend. Despite an unexpected loss to Butler the Homecoming was considered the "best ever" by most of the 700 students who took part in the two days of festivities. Another point on the USSR calendar was the co-sponsoring of an open-air square dance on the Mather tennis courts late in the fall. Mather's Athletic Association also contributed to the success of the affair. So popular was this "under the stars" square dance that the Senate and the Mather Athletic Association co-sponsored a similar one in the spring.

In addition, the USSR—as the Senate was named by the campus newspaper—drafted a new constitution which was approved late in the year by the University President, John Schoff Millis, and the Board of Trustees. The new set of by-laws, when ratified by the Senate's member organizations, will give the USSR the additional authority to publish a handbook for all new students, and to co-ordinate an all-University social calendar.

Bolstered by its new constitution and added prestige, the all-University Student Senate is looking forward to another successful year of activity in 1951.

omicron delta kappa

Omicron Delta-Kappa was founded December 3, 1914, at Washington and Lee University, in order to give recognition to all-around leadership in college and to bring together in one body, for the general good of the institution, all the leaders in the various college activities as well as representative members of the faculty to meet on the basis of mutual understanding and interest.

ODK believes that participation in valuable campus activities outside the classroom contributes to the enrichment of personality, helps to develop social interest and a sense of social responsibility. These qualities, coupled with intellectual development, are important goals in the educational system. The five qualifications for membership are therefore: character, leadership and service within campus functions, scholarship, fellowship, and consecration to the democratic ideals.

The Beta Theta Circle of Reserve was founded on May 8, 1947, by a group of men comprising the Adelbert Warion Society.

delta sigma rho

Founded in 1906 to give recognition to those outstanding in the field of intercollegiate debate, Delta Sigma Rho was introduced at Reserve in 1911.

For the first time in over a decade, Delta Sigma Rho has five active members on the Adelbert campus. Membership is limited to juniors and seniors who have distinguished themselves in their participation with the Reserve Rostrum; initiation is held annually. The members of Delta Sigma Rho provide the core of the varsity debate squad as well as heading the Student Management Board of the Rostrum. Sponsoring the Reserve Chapter of Delta Sigma Rho are the faculty directors of the Rostrum, Warren Guthrie, Robert Lang, and Gerald Phillips.

phi beta kappa

The Phi Beta Kappa Society, founded at William and Mary College in 1776, is an honorary society in which membership is conferred for high scholastic standing. The Alpha of Ohio Chapter, tenth to be established among the present 141 chapters of the Society, was founded at Western Reserve College in 1847.

Seniors who have attained a quality point average of 2.4 are eligible for membership. The three highest ranking students are elected at the end of their Junior year.

Wood 'n Brass was begun this year with the purpose of providing an organized group of bandmen at Reserve, in order to improve the band, to create a social program for band members, and to raise the scholastic and musical standards of the band.

The organization has served as a colony for the national honorary band fraternity, Kappa Kappa Psi. Kappa Kappa Psi is active in all the major schools in the country, and its members constitute the nucleus of most of the major college bands.

Wood 'n Brass has officially been accepted for membership in Kappa Kappa Psi and will be initiated before the close of the school year.

Strings and horsehair combine to make beautiful music under the guidance of skilled fingers.

The WRU Symphony Orchestra is made up of under-graduate and graduate students of the University and students from the Cleveland Music School Settlement. The organization numbers between 50 and 60 players and is conducted by Ezra Schabas, Assistant Professor of Music. The organization presented three concerts during the past year—the fall concert, the all Bach concert, and the winter and spring concerts made up of works by Hayden, Mozart, Beethoven, Wagner, and Déliús. Egbert W. Fischer, Assistant Professor of Music was piano soloist in the winter concert and Julius Drossin, graduate student of music and a member of the Cleveland Orchestra, played a violincello solo in the spring concert.

The orchestra is much larger than in preceding years and is making a name for itself in University Orchestra circles. Mr. Schabas, the new conductor of the Orchestra, was formerly instrumental music director at the University of Massachusetts.

university band

Band performs at Shaw Stadium.

The University band played host this year to approximately one hundred musicians from schools throughout Ohio. The occasion was the annual All Ohio Inter-collegiate band festival. All preparations, such as housing, food, entertainment, etc., were handled by the band members.

This year, the band has presented concerts at All-University rallies and dances, and presented its annual spring concert at the Hotel Cleveland on May 4. This was done in conjunction with the Cleveland night school student council's spring dance. At this concert a march by Louis G. Lane was played for the first time in Cleveland. Mr. Lane is pianist with the Cleveland Orchestra and Conductor of the Canton Symphony.

The band also presented its spring events dressed in new white uniforms which replaced the old red ones. The band is also particularly proud of its new chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi which is a national honorary fraternity for bandsmen. Its objects are to promote better musical and scholastic ability among its members.

On April 22, they sang on Mr. Arnold Perris' radio show, "The Wizard of Music." Two other appearances on the "W.R.U. Presents" television program completed the Cleveland-wide schedule.

Earlier this year, the Glee Club sang at the Alumni dinner preceding Homecoming. The following day, they serenaded Madeleine Yost, Reserve's Homecoming Queen, at the football game. The last appearance was at halftime of the Case-Reserve basketball game in March.

eldred theater presentations

Both Your Houses, Maxwell Anderson's Pulitzer Prize winning drama of intrigue and innocence in the appropriations committee, directed by Ray Smith, opened the Eldred Theater season.

Miss Nadine Miles' direction, imaginative settings by Henry Kurth, and adept acting made an outstanding success of the December production—Jean Giraudoux's Enchanted, a somewhat philosophic comedy concerned with a ghost who makes chaos of French bureaucracy.

Eldred Players returned to the political scene with their February production of the Katherine Dayton-George S. Kaufman First Lady, a comedy about female wits in the Washington merry-go-round. March saw Shakespearean-Shavian satire in a blank verse double-bill—George Bernard Shaw's Admirable Bashville, directed by Miss Miles and as a curtain raiser, The Dark Lady of the Sonnets under the direction of William G. McCollum and with a Cleveland College cast.

Toward the Western Sky, a lyric drama, especially written by Lynn Riggs for the 125th W.R.U. Anniversary, ended the season in a presentation at Cain Park as part of the commencement celebration.

"I will not go into the red with another Eos." These words, spoken by Dean Russell A. Griffin, rang in the ears of the '51 Eos staff as work began on the '51 book. As work progressed and bills piled up, the staff seriously considered taking up such sundry sidelines as a football pool, a race wire, or a fixed bingo game to solve an increasing budget problem. Rescue finally came in the form of an advertising agency which returned the Eos budget once again to the black side of the ledger.

The production of a yearbook is an education in itself. Problems, such as the one described above, were met and solved. Similar problems dealing with design, photography, printing, and engraving were also met, and to the best of our ability, solved. The staff of the '51 Eos is grateful to Reserve in providing us with the opportunity of participating in the practical production of a book such as this.

We sincerely hope that this book meets with the approval of the faculty and of the student body and that it is a successful representation of one year's activity at Adelbert College.

An increased emphasis on "off-campus" issues such as politics, the Korean War, and the military draft characterized the 1950-51 theme of the Reserve Tribune—and helped obtain for the paper the Cleveland Newspaper Guild award as the best college paper in Greater Cleveland.

The Tribune was cited by the guild for "reader appeal and the use of photos and artwork with special effectiveness." The front page layouts for the 125th Anniversary issue and the Thanksgiving day issue were given particular recommendation.

New features in the Tribune were a student-written monthly news analysis; editorial columns called Chuck Waggin', By George!, and Graymatter; polls on the McCarran Bill, the Taft-Ferguson election, the new athletic policy; and the introduction of a Pupil-Evaluation-of-Teacher (PET) Plan.

The Wheels at Work.

The Adelbert Student Council is an elected body of student officers which acts as a policy-making body on the campus. This year the council kept close control over social activities, and publications finance, and for the first time in several years came out in the black.

Playing a major role in freshman orientation, the council sponsored the September Freshman Camp and its annual Fall Mixer. It also sparked successful Homecoming and Campus Day Week ends, and other campus dances and activities.

The Reserve Rostrum, under the able direction of Dr. Guthrie, Dr. Lang, and Gerald Phillips, has maintained its pre-eminent position among the debate teams of other colleges and universities in the nation.

This year, the Rostrum has presented 138 debates, discussions, and individual speeches before a total audience of over 22,000 people. In a series of debates judged by audience opinion, Reserve teams won twenty-one out of twenty-six debates against the University of Pittsburgh, Oberlin College, and Wayne University. On the annual spring tour, the Rostrum debated against West Point, the Naval Academy, Georgetown University, George Washington University, the University of Virginia, Princeton, and several other Eastern schools.

The Rostrum also sent four representatives to the biennial National Speech Congress sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho, the national honorary speech fraternity.

boosters club

Ernie Scott, Booster Club's President, aids Dr. Millis and Dean Griffin pass out Hudson Relcy medals to the winners in the Class of '51.

"Small but Mighty," is a phrase best describing the Boosters Club of this past year. But the fact that membership has ranged from only 15 to 30 has not hampered them from carrying out a full program of activities, for this year the extent of its activities was rivaled only by pre-war organizations of the same type. There were spontaneous rallies, torch light parades, Case-Reserve and Homecoming bonfires, Dad's Day, a plaque for Dr. "Pin" Ludlow, the decoration of Shaw Stadium for football games, the sponsoring of "Bob Dewey Night" and presenting a cake to the same, and last but not least, the publication of the basketball program along with an "ill-reputed" scandal sheet under the guise of "The Grapevine . . .", and the "Booster Stunt Night".

The officers for the past year were Ernie Scott, Cathy Smith, and Fred Markowitz, in descending order. Several persons, along with Dean Griffin, are responsible for the creditable performance of the club this year, but a few deserve special mention for their enthusiasm and willingness to do things when called upon. They were Fred Markowitz, Bill Taake, Dan Grossman, "Gene" Lane, Edna Mae Moriss, Cathy Smith, and Nick Copolla.

"Hold that line! . . . Block that kick! . . . Come on, Red! . . .", yes, these and many other cheering outbursts were characteristic of that team of teams, the cheerleaders. Boasting a well-balanced squad, half male, half female, they were on hand for all home athletic events as well as an occasional road game. Tumbling also has crept into the "repertoire", as has greater eye appeal, namely, Carol "Hy" Loomis, Ginger Fay, Jane Jackson, and Marty O'Leary. But not to be neglected were the male elements, Ernie "That hat" Scott, Carl "Pains" Rocco, and Don "Let's go" Gordon.

Only two veterans, Loomis and Scott, will be lost at graduation this year, but should the "draft" carry more power, Reserve will have an all girl review for cheerleaders next year. Ernie Scott led the squad this year and next year's leader has not as yet been chosen.

campus club

Officers, 1950: W. Lyons, R. Marble, F. Johanic, E. Slowik.

For the many men at Western Reserve University who do not join a fraternity, Campus Club affords a splendid opportunity for participating with fellow students in campus social, athletic, and political activities.

Characterized by democratic procedures, worthy objectives, and open membership to all non-fraternity undergraduate male students, the club is rapidly achieving the position of prominence it had previous to the war.

In intramural athletics Campus Club, as always, came out on top in many events. Entering teams in all sports, Campus Club heartily encourages the participation of members in sports of their interest.

Dances, hayrides, and parties furnished the main forms of social activities this semester. In addition to these forms of recreation, the Club took an active part in student-council planned events.

Realizing that social life is an important part of college experience, Campus Club members are singularly bent on fulfilling that goal.

Officers, 1951: H. Klein, F. Jaffe, G. Hausser, P. Ritzenberg, L. Goldstein.

The Inter-Religious Council was founded in 1947 with the purpose of promoting understanding and cooperation among the various religious groups on the campus through the medium of common activities—educational, Social, and devotional.

Among the activities of the IRC this year was a "Three-Ring Circus" held in February, the "Religion in Life" series of lectures and services, and the World Student Service Fund drive for clothing and money to aid students the world over. The IRC also held several open houses during the year.

The council is made up of representatives of the Newman Club, Student Christian Union, Hillel Foundation, the chaplains of the three groups, and the University Chaplain.

Under the sponsorship of the Cleveland Church Federation, a new organization for Protestant students came into being this year. Seeking the growth of Protestant students in Christian faith, understanding, character, and service, the SCU launched its first year with a weekend planning conference at the Cragin Valley Camp. The major part of the year's program has consisted of weekly Sunday evening meetings devoted to worship, education, and social fellowship; Bible study and "cell" groups have been started. Additional highlights of the year were the opening dinner meeting in the newly decorated Student Center, the "work camp" groups' assistance in settlement houses in the city, the participation in local conferences on human relations, and the sending of delegates to regional and national Protestant and denominational conferences.

Serving as the "Jewish Community on Campus," Hillel Foundation is an integrating force in the lives of its members as it strives to co-operate closely with other organizations on Western Reserve's campus.

Some of the cultural highlights of the past year were the Art Exhibit in November, which brought city-wide attention to Hillel House while providing the artistic members with a chance to display their talent; the Friday night Fireside Services, sponsored by the Religious Committee; the instruction offered on Judaism; and the Mid-Western conference in March, in which over one hundred students from fifteen mid-western universities participated.

Since Hillel's aim is to offer a well-rounded program for its members, social activities are an important part of its schedule. Besides the daily coffee hours and Sunday night open houses, the annual Hillel semi-formal and Hillel Stunt Night took the social limelight of the year.

The Newman Club provides a variety of activities for the Catholic student's college life, with the purpose of deepening the spiritual life and enriching the temporal lives of its members. Some of this years special activities were the Spring Formal; Stunt Nite; Winter Whirl; Snowball Dance; and Midsummer Nite's Dance. These programs have gone far to make the Newman Club an "active" activity on the campus.

For the past two years, the Modern Trends Council has been holding meetings at which speakers from the Western Reserve faculty gave talks on matters of local, national, and international interest. All meetings were open to the student body and were well attended.

However, for the coming year, the Modern Trends Council has reorganized and has formed the nucleus of a new campus organization—the History Club. Through the History Club, speakers on subjects of current interest will be featured and separate meetings will be held for student debates and discussions. The club is designed primarily for history majors but the entire student body is welcomed to meetings, especially when a speaker is being presented.

Faculty adviser is Professor Donald G. Barnes, head of the history department.

Foil and Mace, the fraternity political party on campus, is composed of eleven fraternities, each having one voting representative. Foil and Mace, at present, is the only organized party that is functioning.

The meetings are held regularly to determine an intelligent choice of candidates. The freshman elections this Fall and the upper class elections last May were a complete success, for Foil and Mace, beginning an era of the all fraternity system.

The meetings, under the capable guidance of Dale Randall, are open to those students interested in the party policies.

“R” club

The Varsity “R” Club, reorganized this semester under the quarterbacking of Al Morhard, has already made itself a new name on campus. Limited to those lettermen who show a sincere interest in the organization, the club has three major purposes: to heighten school interest in the various sports, to bring better athletes to Reserve, and to promote fun and fellowship among its members.

In an effort to help itself and the school, the “R” Club sells refreshments at sporting events. Plans are also being made to sponsor social affairs following some of the major games.

For its members, the “R” Club has obtained a private room in the Temporary Building. This, the “R” Club hang-out, finds the lettermen relaxing, playing cards, talking with each other.

The “R” Club members, who up to now could be identified only by their letters (and by their happy, contented look) will soon be sporting little gold R pins on their chests. These will signify an active interest in the organization, as well as the award of a letter in at least one sport.

Hardest worker among the “R” Clubbers is of course Al Morhard, the president. With equal enthusiasm he presides over a meeting, or hustles alumni and faculty support.

Bob Fuzy, vice-president, Hal Miller, secretary-treasurer, and Al Oldenburg, chairman of the general planning committee, hold the other major offices. By coincidence all three earned letters with the soccer team.

Monday of every week has been selected official lettermen day. On Mondays the athletes all wear their sweaters, brightening the campus with their red and white.

This coming year the “R” Club hopes to get its spirit-raising and its team-building program into full swing. Confident in its ability to give the sports activities greater significance on the Adelbert scene, the “R” Club members envision a successful year.

i. m. staff

The intramural program of the Department of Physical Education offers those students not interested in varsity athletics a chance to compete in seventeen different intramural sports. These sports include touch football, volleyball, badminton, basketball, basketball free throw, bowling, fencing, handball, wrestling, gymnastics, boxing, tennis, softball, horseshoes, swimming, golf and track and field events. Under the present plan, teams from the fraternities, independent organizations, professional schools, and Cleveland College, compete in four divisions.

The student intramural managers are in charge of the administration of the various sports. This includes lining the fields, directing the running-off of the sports, officiating, and keeping a running and permanent record of the intramural sports for that year. These are compiled, bound, and entered into the intramural sports records. Working with the intramural staff offers a student experience, not only in officiating and organizing athletics, but in administrative work as well.

radio club

Flash! The Radio Workshop—familiarily known as the Radio Club—returns to the air with a new series of shows to be presented during the spring semester. The new series features a prize-winning group of scripts obtained via the exchange route with other leading college and university workshops; however, original scripts and adaptations by Reserve students are given preference, provided that they meet the requirements. As usual, new scripts, new ideas, and above all, new members are always solicited.

The Workshop is open to all Reserve students who are interested in any phase of radio; to these, the Workshop offers invaluable experience and a fine opportunity to exhibit and develop their particular talents.

tv comes to w.r.u.

Western Reserve television students and faculty produced Your Fortune, a series of experimental programs weekly throughout the year. Faculty, students, and townspeople participated in the three-fold program which included dramatizations of various facets of the University, documentaries showing the work of the departments of the University, and Court of Public Opinion discussions on issues of the day. Barclay S. Leathem was responsible for the programs which were moderated by Warren Guthrie, head of the Speech department, and directed and written by Bob Cole, Jim Bullock, Jerry Marans, and other graduate television students.

September found over 1000 Adelbert students confused with the finer art of registering for the new school year. Road signs, class cards, program cards, financial maladjustments, and a belated Eos all added to the confusion. An efficient Department of Registration, however, succeeded in registering the majority of undergraduates intact.

Let's see, is that Philosophy, Psychology, or Physiology?

Gee, Eos is out—where's my picture?

Looking for an honest man, "Diogenes" spent his time at Eldred Theater during the fourth annual Greek Week production. This musical comedy, Reserve's counterpart of Yale's "Mask and Wig" ran from March 26-31 and was an outstanding success.

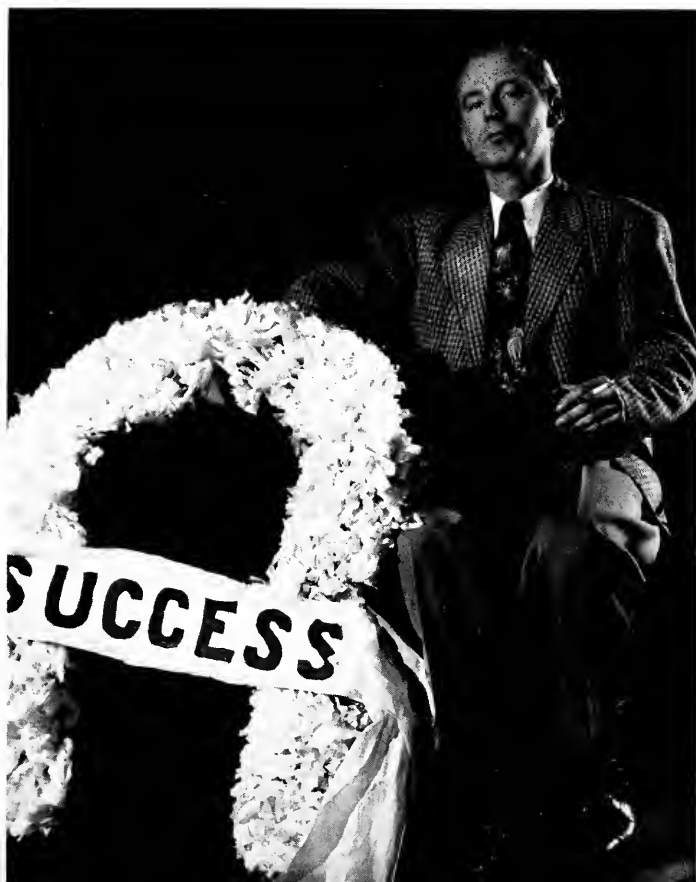

The story is of Diogenes, played by Bob Gietgey, the Greek cynic, who, discredited in his home town of Sinope because of his honesty, goes into the world in search of another honest man. He is accompanied only by his comic slave and companion, Schultz, played by Al Bickart.

The two adventurers come upon a pirate camp run by women, where Diogenes and Schultz become involved in a situation of love. After Alexander and his army capture the pirate camp, Diogenes gives up his policy of honesty when he accepts stolen money from Schultz.

This hilarious production was staged by an all male cast with outstanding jobs done by the aforementioned along with Mickey Kaufman, Bill Jones, and Marshall Conn.

The original music and songs made this show a truly great college extravaganza, and top credit was given to Joanne Rosenberg, Aaron Brody, Howie Luntz, and Alan Miller, the authors. The production was under the direction of Ray Smith and Dick Takas, with the musical end being handled by Jim Smith. Choreography was ably staged by Norm Saltzman and costumes were designed by Shirley Pleshinger.

Producer Ray Smith holds horseshoe of a successful show.

Friday, October 27, marked the official beginning of another Homecoming Weekend. The festivities began with a Tea Dance held at the Adelbert Gym at which Madeleine Yost, the Sigma Chi candidate, was selected from a group of 19 candidates to represent Reserve as the 1950 Homecoming Queen.

That evening students met at the bonfire rally to rehearse cheers and meet the football team. Following the rally, gaiety and goodwill broke loose as alumni and students made the rounds of the fraternity open houses.

Saturday, October 28, festivities began with the parade of floats from the campus to Shaw Stadium. Half time at the game saw the crowning of Madeleine Yost as 1950 Homecoming Queen by WRU's Vice President John White and the announcement of the winners of the float and house decorations contest. The Phi Gams won the house decoration contest with their Butler bull dog being cowed by Fiji Islanders while the Delts took honors for their float depicting Reserves Red Cat clubbing the Butler bull dog. Unfortunately, Reserve rooters fell heir to the short end of a 25 to 14 score.

125th anniversary party

Reserve kicked-off its 125th birthday celebration with two affairs that were very different in nature but linked by the theme—Reserve's birthday. The student body was treated to a free dance at the Adelbert Gym on February 6 and the next day, a convocation in honor of the birthday was given in Severance Hall. At the dance, square dancing, polkas, and modern dancing were featured along with a concert by the Reserve Symphonic Band. Planned by a committee composed of all 11 schools of the University, the dance was a big success as the floor was packed with couples. Square dancing proved to be the hit of the evening as more and more tried it, liked it, and kept dancing until it was time to call it quits at 12:00.

The convocation was quite a change of pace from the party the night before. Arthur H. Compton, Chancellor of Washington University and Nobel prize winner in atomic research, delivered the feature address of the morning—"That Lasting Peace May Come."

Governor Frank Lausche congratulated the University on behalf of the State of Ohio and Acting Mayor Lee C. Howley offered greetings from the city.

Ten and eleven o'clock classes were dismissed as the Reserve student body watched the official inaugural of the 125th anniversary.

WEWS-TV and radio stations WDOK and WSRS covered the convocation so that all Northern Ohio could witness the ceremony.

case - reserve

The climax of every Reserve football season is the annual Case-Reserve Thanksgiving Day Game.

Physical rivalry between Case and Reserve men was held to a minimum this year in response to appeals by the respective student government presidents. Case men, however, left their slide rules long enough to construct a miniature pyramid on the Reserve football field. Damp weather foiled Casey's feeble attempt at posterity and the architectural monstrosity was dismantled before the cement had set.

Grand Entry.

No Goin.

Spirit ran high at the pre-game rally held at Amasa Stone Chapel. Cheers, pep talks, words from players, and skits by the Boosters Club were the order of the day. The rally broke up after everyone had eaten his fair share of cor-fetti and "beat Case" pulsed in everyone's ears.

Thanksgiving morning saw a large crowd packed into Shaw Stadium, as Reserve and Case squared off in the 55th renewal of their University Circle rivalry, a football feud which ranks as the third oldest in the country. Reserve rooters, looking for a second victory which might touch off the spark to another 21 year winning streak over Case Tech, were doomed to disappointment. The final score was Case 20, Reserve 7.

Featured at the half-time ceremonies was the crowning of the Case-Reserve Queen Claire Landgrebe by John Schoff Millis, President of the University.

Rounding out the Thanksgiving festivities was the annual ODK-Blue Key Dance held at the Hotel Hollenden featuring Clint Noble and orchestra.

Enjoy yourselves — it's snowing outside.

Faced with one of the toughest schedules in WRU history the Red Cat gridmen headed into their 1950 campaign with high hopes and enthusiasm. Under the tutorship of gigantic Dick Luther, newly-appointed head mentor and former Reserve gridiron great himself, the courageous Cat footballers sought vainly to conquer their big name opponents week after week. Plagued with injuries from the beginning to such key men as Don Hura, Leo Spann, and Tony Ventresca and lacking in sufficient depth at all positions, the locals could hardly hope to vanquish such powerhouse foes as Cincinnati and Miami whose wealth of talent provided them with almost unlimited replacements. Despite such handicaps however the Cat gridsters displayed plenty of fight and fury and brought to local rooters a dazzling show of wide open and daring football.

High light of the season was Reserve's smashing 26 to 0 conquest of the highly favored and powerful "Broncos" of Western Michigan. Outstanding individual performances are difficult to single out, but it will be a long time before Reservites will forget the vicious blocking of Bud Meador, the determination of Captain Jack White, and the spirit and courage of little Herman Marolt. There can be no doubt that Reserve took some of the roughest opposition encountered by any team in this part of the state, so statistics and figures can never present the true picture of the season gone by. The frenzied and often desperate battles waged by the Cats against their vastly superior opponents was certainly a display of unmatched courage. The trying 1950 football season was finally laid to rest on a sunny Thanksgiving morning which proved all too gloomy for the rooters on our side of the fence. After literally playing Case Tech off the field in every department except the final score, the Cats finally succumbed to their fence rivals for the second time in 23 years.

Reserve 13

West Virginia 37

In their initial outing of the 1950 grid campaign, the Cats traveled to Morgantown to meet the powerful University of West Virginia Mountaineers. After looking impressive for the first half, the Cats faded in the later stages of the tilt as a result of poor defensive play.

Reserve 24 Washington University 20

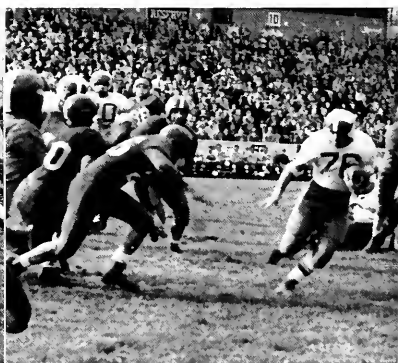

Reservites were treated to a dazzling display of broken field running and forward passing as the local gridgers racked up their first triumph of the season. Halfbacks Tom Raffa and Irv Millstien did most of the ground work. Ends Leo Spann and Tom Schultz collaborated with quarterback Al Morhard to provide scores via the aerial route.

Reserve 14

Butler 27

The murderous schedule was taking its toll. Physically worn but still fighting, our gridmen returned to Shaw Stadium to do battle with the Butler Bulldog in their annual home coming fray. Pass defense lapses proved costly to the local eleven, although they showed superiority in every other way.

Reserve 7

Toledo 27

A blinding snow storm blanketed the Toledo glass bowl as the locals battled a scrappy Toledo eleven in a contest that could have gone either way. Little Herman Marolt playing his first game as a fullback gathered in a pass thrown by Al Morhard and tallied Reserve's lone touchdown.

Reserve 6

Colgate 47

Boasting their strongest team in over a decade and smarting from a close decision at the hands of mighty Army only a week before, the Red Raiders of Colgate were not to be denied. The Cats, however, staged a frenzied battle throughout the first half, ripping the Colgate line to shreds as they marched eighty yards for their score late in the first period.

Reserve 0

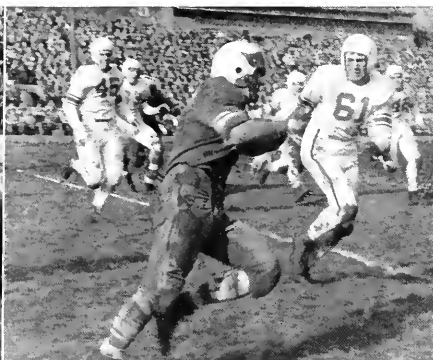

Ohio University 35

The hard charging Reserve linemen held the Ohio team to a mere twenty yards gained on the ground. The Bob Cats racked up all their scores on punt returns and passes. The game featured the outstanding line plays of Bud Meader, Tony Ventresca and Ned Cooney.

Reserve 6

Cincinnati 48

Reserve was no match for the powerful grid machine of Sid Gillmans' Cincy Bearcats. The local gridsters registered their lone tally early in the first period. Dick Dorland's coffin corner punt put the ball in position for a short touchdown plunge after Jack White had recovered a Cincy fumble.

Reserve 26

Western Michigan 0

Sparked by the return of halfback Don Hura and augmented by a line of steel, our gridders were not to be denied as they battled furiously to a decisive victory over the powerful Broncos of Western Michigan. Hura, adding his winning talent to those of Rush McKnight, counted twice for the Cats on line plunges.

Reserve 14

Miami 69

Reserve tallied in the second period after little Herman Marolt returned a punt of 75 yards to the Miami two-yard line. The Cats counted their last tally on a screen pass from Al Morhard to Tom Raffia who covered some 50 yards from the scrimmage line and climaxed the scoring for the day.

Case 20

Out played, out fought and out done in everything but the final score were the boys beyond the fence. Capt. Jack White of Reserve played one of the finest games of his career as did 14 other seniors who donned the Red Cat uniform for the last time. Halfbacks McKnight and Hura aided by the devastating blocks of Lubahn and Ricci literally tore the rough rider line to shreds. Ironically enough, victory was so near and yet so far.

basketball

Although the results of this year's basketball season are not very impressive, they definitely do not tell the true story. A basketball team needs depth with a long, hard schedule of twenty-two games, in which some of the best teams in the country are included. The Red Cats lacked this depth plus some necessary height. These two factors and the very undesirable intrusion of "Uncle Sam" caused considerable trouble. Coach Bob Dewey lost his aggressive sophomore, Jack Ferguson, at mid-term because of his draft status, and his position on the team was left vacant. This left a heavy burden on senior John Kappos, for he was called on to be the potential scorer every week. It wasn't till the close of the season that Jack Dawson and Dean Todd, two bright young Sophomores, really started hitting for points. To add to the misfortunes of Dewey, injuries continually hampered the team. Dick Everhard fractured an ankle, and Joe Henry, the little spark plug of the team, was out twice during the season, with a fractured ankle and hand. With all these hardships to encounter, the team continued its push, and for the first time in many years, Western Reserve finally had a hard fighting and hustling ball team.

In everyone of the games, including those with the top national ranking teams such as: Michigan, Cincinnati, and West Virginia, Reserve has gone all the way out. And in every one of these games they have held the lead at some point in the game.

Everhard tries a set shot for Reserve.

Todd sinks two from the left side for Reserve.

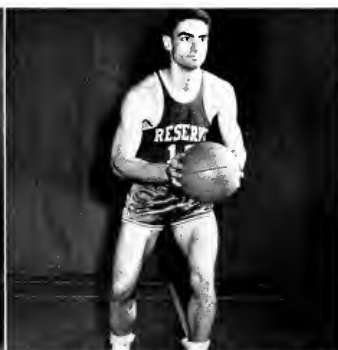

In the first Fenn game and in the Maryland State game, the team came rolling back to take the lead late in the game, but could not hold it because of the lack of substitutions. Depth is important and we must have it. This was shown in the first game with Case which Reserve won 73 to 69. The boys had that extra go; whereas Case had no one left to substitute. In the Cincinnati game, Reserve had tied the score 35-35, but this lack of depth, this disadvantage of height, stopped the Red Cats.

It was something that could not be remedied immediately, but could be taken up in the future and will be. Coach Bob Dewey has already gone out scouting for the best material he can possibly lure to Reserve. We can be sure that with the young, experienced team returning, and the new material Dewey is bringing to Reserve, WE won't be a potential winner next year—WE WILL BE A WINNER!

The 1950-1951 season proved to be a disastrous one for the usually successful varsity wrestling team. After the initial victory over Baldwin-Wallace College, the Redcat matmen dropped ten straight dual meets. Although the squad had been bolstered by the three returning lettermen, Larry Patrick, 130 lbs.; Al Weizman, 167 lbs.; and Dick Knittle, 177 lbs.; injuries to the latter two were extended during several of the team's marginal defeats. Other members of the varsity coached by Dr. Alexander Darbes were George Giampetro, 137 lbs.; Eugene Hexter, 137 lbs.; Jim Cappe, 147 lbs.; Harry Zilli, 147 lbs.; Lou Ripich, 157 lbs.; Bob Fuzy, 157 lbs.; Bill Schmidt, 167 lbs.; and Ed Johnson, heavyweight. Weizman was again the team's leading scorer.

Reviewing the season, Coach Darbes made the comment: "It was all Psychological—next year we're going to win."

Hampered by snow and rain all season long, the 1950 baseball team spent most of their training period indoors and could do no better than finish the season with a record of two wins and fourteen losses.

Coach Bill Waller had to depend almost entirely on John Corffas and Bob Lavan to shoulder his pitching lead. Both pitchers did well even though their won-lost record showed only one victory apiece. Harry Hutton handled his duties behind the plate all alone. By the end of the season, he had developed into one of the better catchers of the Mid-America Conference.

The hitting of Lavan, who played center field when not on the mound, kept the Red Cats from falling too far behind in most of their games. Rounding out the outfield corps were Wally Kessler, Dick Cohen and Gus Zamaitis.

The infield was manned by third-baseman Al Morhard, who came through with many well-placed hits when they were needed most. Dick Kenney played shortstop position while Chick Scali and Mickey Mitchell alternated at the other end of the double play combination. Milan Brdar at first base added his share of long distance hits.

The year 1950 brought an end to the era of three of Reserve's great tracksters—Pat Paterson, Lenny Corbin, and Mose Nicholson—and a heartache for Coach Herb Bee as he watched his three "boys" run their last races for the Red and White. It was another open season on track records as this senior trio played an important role in the rewriting of two individual and the two relay records. Paterson and Corbin were named the outstanding athletes in the Fourth Mid-American Conference Meet, as they accounted for twenty points, but the Beemen were nosed out of third place in the standings by Ohio University. In the All-Ohio Meet, this trio helped Reserve win fifth place in a field of 20 colleges.

At the Conference Meet, Lenny Corbin erased the oldest record standing on the Reserve books, as he shaved two-tenths of a second from the 21.8s time for the 220 yard dash posted by Stagg back in 1898. Lenny's time of 21.6s was also a new Conference mark. During the same meet, Pat Paterson was a double winner in the hurdle events for the second year in a row, and he broke his own school and Conference record in the 220 low hurdles by skimming over the low barriers in 23.3s. Paterson was also a double winner at the All-Ohio Meet, and he gained further laurels during the season by setting a new Colgate track record with a 15s victory in the 120 high hurdles and by representing our school at the Penn Relays in Philadelphia.

Paterson, Corbin, and Nicholson formed three-fourths of Reserve's record-breaking relay combinations, but it was Milt Schwartz and Elwood Holman who sparked the teams as they chalked up a 1.30s time for the 880 yard relay and a 3.26.6s running in the mile relay. Schwartz, a quarter and half-miler during the season, ran his first 220 in competition as the lead-off man on the half-mile relay team, and "El" Holman ran a fine quarter with a taped leg as lead-off on the mile quartet.

Among the other trackmen who will be missing this year will be Jim Zimmerman, cross-country star and consistent point winner in both the mile and two-mile races, and Bob Rokos, a discus thrower and quarter-miler.

Holman, the only experienced man returning this year, has been named captain of the 1951 squad, but the freshman team of last spring produced a number of capable performers who will be counted on to form a well-balanced team this season. However, the big question will be—can Coaches Herb Bee and Dale Thompson come up with another trio like Pat, Lenny, and Mose?—only time will tell.

tennis

The Spring of 1950 proved to be another successful season for the clawing racqueteers of Western Reserve University. Having a record of six wins and two losses, the tennis team again proved to be the "winningest" varsity team.

The standout player of the year was Joe Russell, No. 1 singles player on the team. "Joey" wound up his dual season record with eight wins and no losses. He was finally beaten in the finals of the Mid-American Conference Tennis Playoffs.

Adrian Castilla brought up the No. 2 spot in the singles bracket followed by Art Blum who took up the No. 3 slot. The 4th, 5th, and 6th places on the team were filled capably by Dick Shafer, Dick Cowan, and John Yurek. The remainder of the squad was made up of Gus Hans, Jim Kohler, and Jerry Rouby.

Soccer

Starting its second year in competition, Harry Briggs' Red Cat soccer team was out to establish itself as a power in the Mid-West.

Although the records were not impressive, it can never show the true picture of the season. It can not give testimony to the fighting heart, the frenzied aggressiveness with which the young and little publicized squad played.

They opened their season by losing to a nationally powerful eleven fielded by Oberlin. They lost very close games to Kenyon, Kent, and Allegheny. Both victories came over Case.

Lack of depth, and inexperience hampered the team from driving in the winning goals.

Individual stars brought home honor to Reserve when Shelly Haims, Fritz Stein, Marv Solganic and Al Oldenberg were named to the All-American soccer team.

Experience derived from this last season should make the Briggs men a winner in the season to come.

Although the bad weather has hampered the practice sessions of the linksmen they have improved with each match. Their finest performance thus far was the sound thumping they gave Case Tech. They defeated them 10 to 6.

The Interfraternity Council of Western Reserve University consists of the representatives of fourteen national social fraternities and serves to coordinate the policies of these groups. The council's aim is to strengthen the bonds of fellowship between the Greeks on campus by promoting joint affairs by exhibiting excellence of endeavor. It is a unit of student self-government and a moulding agent for school spirit and enthusiasm.

During the 1950-51 school year, several council-sponsored open houses were held. Fraternities cooperated in the All University Homecoming by producing the most elaborate house decorations and floats ever seen on the Reserve campus. The Winter Interfraternity Ball was held in November. The fourth annual Greek Week highlighted the spring season of council activities, characterized by a festive pre-vacation atmosphere that embodied open houses, exchange luncheons, and other gay celebrations. The highlight of the week was the original musical comedy, Diogenes, that returned the spirited tradition of the hairy-leg, all male cast.

The Interfraternity Council took a vital role in the 125th Anniversary Celebration during Campus Weekend in May, reinforcing the determination with which the fraternities will meet the problems created on the local scene by the national emergency.

Party, Party!

Alpha Delta Phi is Western Reserve's oldest fraternity. Although the group wishes to remain small in number, it is constantly expanding in its extra-curricular activities, which include ODK, Phi Beta Kappa, Student Council, Eldred Theater, Soccer, Track, Baseball, Intramurals.

Among numerous social events held was a "Hard Times" party. A mock initiation made Alpha Delta Phi a "co-ed" fraternity.

The first chapter of Alpha Delta Phi was founded at Hamilton College in 1832. It was organized as a protest against bitter rivalry which then existed between two literary societies. An active literary program is still a primary function of Alpha Delta Phi.

The fraternity's ideal is to develop the whole man—moral, social, and intellectual. Its motto is "many hands, one heart."

Tau Deuteron Chapter at Western Reserve University is a proud member of a great national organization which was founded at New York University and now comprises 59 chapters throughout the country.

The establishment of a permanent residence on fraternity row has given evidence to the progress made by Alpha Epsilon Pi in a relatively few years. The purchase and maintenance of a house was one of the major problems which was successfully undertaken by the young organization. Although one of the most recently formed fraternities on the Reserve campus, this chapter has rapidly risen to a position of prominence.

Alpha Epsilon Pi members actively participate in school activities and publications. At the same time they have twice attained the scholarship award for highest cumulative average.

Alpha Epsilon Pi took part in all intramural athletics, and it has been represented on varsity football and tennis squads.

The fraternity also maintains a full schedule of social affairs throughout the year. This includes frequent house parties, picnics and stags, as well as an Annual June Formal and New Year's party.

Beta Chapter of Beta Theta Pi was founded while Western Reserve was located at Hudson, Ohio, and is now celebrating its 110th year on the campus.

The Betas took second place in the annual Homecoming Float contest and tied for second place in the house decorations. The fall season also saw the Betas win the Fraternity A Division of football but they lost to the Browns in the University IM playoffs.

Around the campus the Betas are represented by Ed Pientowski, president and drum major of the University Band; Walt (Horse) Jones, Inter-fraternity Council Vice President; Emil Danciu, varsity football; Harry Hutton, Bob Siegel, and Frank Wencovich, varsity baseball; Fred Lafferty, scholastic leader of the junior class; and Bill Mahoney, Bob Fisher, Jim Butler, and Neil Van Ulyman, freshman football.

The social life is far from forgotten as we remember the "Wrong Way" party featuring the "Beta Symphonettes", the fall Pledge Party, and the annual Christmas Formal held at the Alcazar Hotel. The Annual Beta Faculty Banquet was a success and added more to student-faculty understanding and relationship.

Delta Kappa Epsilon originated at Yale University in 1848. It has built up to its present number of fifty chapters, three of which have been admitted since 1947. Deke is represented by nineteen University presidents, seven of whom lead outstanding New England colleges.

The Dekes are represented on campus in many campus activities. Lou Kallie is with the IFC and Wally Kameron sits in with Foil and Mace. Bob McAndrew, "Swish" on the varsity basketball team, is sophomore class representative. Bud Maeder is Deke's contribution to football.

Dekes are famous for their social functions. The winter formal was followed by the Annual Pearl Harbor Day banquet with the alumni, while numberless parties filled the other weekends. In the spring the costume party was followed by the spring formal while a card party entertained the parents and friends of the fraternity.

Delta Tau Delta wrote finis to a successful rushing season on September 25, 1950, by accepting the pledges of twenty-five members of the freshman and sophomore classes. Much of the credit for this showing goes to Chairman Charles Sellnau and his Rushing Committee. One of his pledges, Ralph Engle, was elected to the presidency of the freshman class.

The Delts again figured high in the Homecoming places during the fall, taking first place in the float contest and runner-up with their house decorations. For their social entertainment, house parties, hay rides, and a mixer at the Mexican Hat kept the Delts circulating. The winter season was topped by the Christmas Formal on December 8, 1950. After winning the Intramural All-Sports Trophy last year, the Delts are inspired to retain it. With football opening the intramural season, two Delt teams strengthened and lengthened the unbeaten records of previous years.

With Al Oldenberg and Bob Fuzy occupying permanent positions on the soccer team, Don Hura and Pat Leighton playing varsity football, Bill Shew and Dick Everhard playing first string basketball, and several pledge brothers supporting the various freshman teams, the Delts can assure Western Reserve of their intentions to support athletics during the present and future.

The first chapter of Delta Upsilon was organized at Williams College in 1834 as a protest against secret societies. The non-secret nature of the fraternity is still emphasized. The Western Reserve Chapter was founded in 1851 as the fifth of the present sixty-nine chapters of D.U.

Perhaps the proudest achievement of the chapter this year is the improvement in the general scholarship rating of the fraternity—through the increased efforts of the members and the guidance of the scholarship committee.

Well-planned week-end parties were the highlights of the social activity this year. To Donn DeAngelis goes much of the credit for giving the chapter "something different" in the way of parties. The D. U. Christmas Formal was held at the Alcazar Hotel and many recent alums were present at the gala affair.

D. U. was well represented on Reserve athletic teams again this year. George Spann, Bill Morgan, Jerry Krasovec, Tom Cooper, Tony Ventresca, and Jack Young were members of the varsity football team. Harry Zilli played freshman football. On the wrestling team—Jim Cappe and George Giampetro. Jim Zimmerman was a key man on the cross-country team and a leading miler on the track team. The chapter is proud of the fact that Zimmerman was the only Reserve student to be nominated this year to Delta Sigma Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity.

Lambda Chi Alpha, the nation's largest fraternity, is represented at Western Reserve University by its Alpha Nu Zeta. Alpha Nu has long been considered the university's athletic fraternity. This year, as in the past, they are leading the intramural field for the "All Sports Trophy," which will be awarded at the close of this semester.

In varsity athletics Lambda Chi Alpha was well represented. Jack White, former president of the local chapter, served as captain of the Reserve eleven. Other Lambda Chi's earning their letters were: Charles Swann, football; Larry Patrick, wrestling; James Coats, freshman football and track, and Bert Neilson, freshman track.

Seventeen men were pledged throughout the school year. Most notable of the pledges were: Jim Coats of the freshman football and track teams; also secretary of the freshman class, and Dale Wolgarmuth, who served as director of the Cleveland College "Charity Review."

Three members of the active chapter entered military service this year, with a host of others due to leave in the summer. Joe Zluchowski, Harry Radden, and Richard La Brake all entered the Air Corps.

The social season has been a bright one, thanks to the unceasing efforts of George Thomas and his social committee. This year's parties ranged from Hay Rides to Sadie Hawkin's Day to Haunted House parties. The highlight, of course, was the annual Christmas Formal, which was held at the Chagrin Valley Country Club. This beautiful affair proved to be one of the finest in the history of the chapter.

A long and difficult search by the Phi Eps for a new house was crowned with outstanding success with the purchase of the new fraternity house at 1644 E. 117th Street. The new house is a beautiful 14 room, three-story stucco building. The interior was decorated by Mrs. C. C. Jewel, the former owner, who is an accomplished artist. A finished basement with a large recreation room and bar help make this the ideal fraternity house.

The Phi Eps continued their excellent leadership in campus activities. Avrum Froimson, as president of the IFC, planned one of Reserve's best Homecomings. The writings of Gil Krebs, managing editor and originator of "The Cat's Meow," George Miller, feature editor and author of "By George," and Hal Miller, cultural reporter represent many pages of newsprint in the Tribune. Gil Krebs, Newt Turoff, and Lew Frauenthal play in the band, the latter being elected the first president of the band's honorary fraternity, Kappa Kappa Psi. Bill Greene is Vice-President of the Junior Class, while Hal Miller was elected secretary-treasurer of the R Club. Matthew Ganz and Newt Turoff joined the Miller twins on the chess team, and the latter are also members of the Rostrum, owner of Reserve's best intercollegiate record.

The social season, which included dancing, bowling, and swimming parties was climaxed by the beautiful Winter Formal at the Allerton Hotel.

The Black Diamonds of Phi Gamma Delta continued to glisten on the Reserve campus this year. The fall rushing season placed ten new White Stars upon the Royal Purple of Xi Deuteron. With the help of these new men, the fraternity went on to win the Homecoming House Trophy and attain intramural honors throughout the year.

The spring of 1950 saw the Fijis again capture the Inter-fraternity Sing-Out trophy and proudly place it among the many intramural, sing-out, and homecoming honors.

The winter social season was climaxed by the Christmas Formal at Chagrin Valley Country Club.

Active Fijis again resumed their position on campus this fall, climaxed by the election of Brothers Gilbert, Hartman, and Holman to Omicron Delta Kappa. Active men include: Morhard, Schultz, McKnight, Koch, Reminger, Raffa, and Kelley on the football squad; Berry, Ferguson, and Hinz as "cagers"; Hallock on the soccer team; "Governor Jim" Smith on the debate team; as well as many Fijis in publications and freshmen in every sport and activity from football to the Glee Club.

Beta Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha ushered in one of its most successful years at Reserve with a re-decorated house. Some of the fellows who stayed at the house during the summer went to work with paper, brushes, and paint; when the chapter reconvened in the fall, the redecoration served as an extra incentive for the rush season. The result was nine pledges.

Probably, the most notable success of the chapter during the year was an improvement in relations with the dormitories of Mather. By specially planned exchange dinners, and the new idea of presenting each dorm girl with a rose on her birthday, the chapter made itself as much of a part of Mather as it is of Adelbert. The alumni of Pi Kappa Alpha provided an excellent turnout to hear President Millis talk at our annual Founder's Day Dinner. As an added aid to the chapter, the new year will see the re-establishment of the alumni association in Cleveland. Plans for this association were made over turkey and beer at the annual Case-Reserve Smoker held at the house for alumni on the night before the game. The fellows are having a hard time deciding which was the best fraternity formal they have attended. Is it the Spring Dream Girl Dance which was held last year at the Lake Shore Country Club, or the recent Christmas Formal held at the Clifton Club?

We had two men holding campus offices this year. Serving as vice-president of the Freshman Class was Cyril Dostal, and Brother Kenneth Wickham served on the Student Council. Pi Kappa Alpha was represented in virtually all of the campus activities, both by actives and pledges. This has been one of our most successful years.

Beta Eta Chapter is one of the more unusual in the fraternity world, because it is composed of students from two universities — Western Reserve and Case.

Sigma Chi, as usual, took an active part in Reserve campus affairs this year. On the national scene, the chapter received three separate citations by the Sigma Chi National Convention.

Paced by its driving Consul, Ted Hamilton, the chapter made sure that a gala time for all was the order of the day. Highlighting the social season was the formal Casino Party at which the Sigs had a chance to give sway to their gambling natures to the tune of fifty-thousand rubles. The Li'l Abner party found all of the Sigs pursued by beautiful women as the Sadie Hawkins race got under way with the girls having little trouble catching their men. Open houses, exchange dinners, hay rides, song fests, and smokers kept the chapter occupied.

Sig event of the year was the pinning and crowning of the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi at the Christmas Formal which was held at the Lake Shore Country Club. Beta Eta was honored to have Miss Madeline Yost as the Reserve Homecoming Queen, and is proud to name her as the "Girl of Their Dreams".

Sigma Nu was founded at Virginia Military Institute on January 1, 1869. Since then it has been extended to 105 college campuses in the United States and Canada. Sigma Nu was established at Western Reserve in 1909, and since then Delta Zeta chapter has been active on the campus, except during the war years, when every member went into service. Since reactivation late in the spring of 1949, the chapter has shown marked progress. Although the chapter does not yet have a house, meetings and gatherings are held in comfortable quarters in the Fenway Hall Hotel. In expectation of the purchase of a chapter house this year or next, extensive rushing activities were carried on. However, the fact that a moderate membership insures a close-knit fraternal group was not overlooked.

Sigma Nu has actively participated in intramural activities. These include softball, football, volleyball, badminton, and bowling. Sigma Nu was represented in the middleweight boxing division of intramural boxing by Paul Reed. During the year the chapter was kept busy with social events which included house parties, beach parties, beer parties, and skating parties. In the summer the facilities of a near-by canoe club are used by the fraternity.

In June the fraternity will lose six members by graduation: Jud Barrett, Larry Hitchcock, Dick Miller, Paul Reed, Irv Struhar, and Neil Whitfield. Much of the credit for reactivating the chapter goes to these men. Members who are yet to be graduated hope to carry on their good work.

Zeta Beta Tau, with 47 chapters in the United States and Canada, was instituted at Western Reserve in 1909. The national fraternity was founded in 1898 at the City College of New York.

The Zeta Betes are well represented in campus activities: Bernie Persky is business manager of the Tribune; Merle Mishne is business manager of Eos; Robbins is senior intramural manager; Irv Gray is the president of the Student Council and of O.D.K., of which Tarr and Polshek are also members; Weintraub is secretary of the sophomore class and Bickart is treasurer of the freshman class; Solganik and Kravitz are on the soccer team; Gilman on the basketball squad, and Huler on cross-country and track.

The chapter won both: the Adelbert I.F.C. Scholarship Cup, and Zeta Beta Tau's Bijur Cup for scholastic achievement last year.

Social affairs included: the Mather Tea for all freshmen and students transferring to Mather, numerous house parties, and the Thanksgiving and June formals.

The National Convention at St. Louis was a great success. The chapter has much to be proud of in its forty-second year at Reserve.
